The Finance and Investment Cell, Hansraj College organised the eighth edition of its annual flagship festival - Finance Platter'21. Living up to its legacy of organizing the best events in town, was comprised of a roster of speakers in the form of a prestigious 'Ev Summit', with a side of the most intricately designed mega-simulation, 'Mayfair Mayhem' on October 9 and 10, 2021. It witnessed the participation of over 900 students across India.

A brief description of the events:-

1. EV Summit

If a 20th-century person was asked to enumerate the main advantages of electricity, using it in vehicles would not even appear on the list. Come 2021 and even a kid would have heard about this revolutionary prospect in the automobile industry. The Electronic Vehicle is the hottest ongoing topic around the globe for some time now, exciting, yet uncertainty surrounds the future of this industry and not many have the power and vision it takes to facilitate this industry forward!

The summit was a panel discussion consisting of the visionaries and leaders who have decoded all there is about EVs. Some of the esteemed speakers that graced or discussion were:

- Deepak Jain - The CFO of Ather Energy, he has 22 years of experience working with global brands like Apple India and P&G.
- Jenender Anand - The CEO of Revolt Motors, he is a true veteran in his field. With a successful track record of over three decades of leading teams across multiple locations, his insights on the future of EV were a treat for the audience.
- Mr.Sudhendu J. Sinha - EV Adviser at the NITI Aayog, he was the perfect person to delineate the views of the government. An alumnus at St. Stephen's College, Delhi has an experience of over 27 years in operation, infrastructure planning, coordination and policy making.
- Rajeev Chaba - Mr. Rajeev Chaba, President and MD of MG Motor India with his 31 years of experience truly owns the driving seat for the establishment of EV in the country.
- Sumit Mishra - Director Deloitte India, he is a leading practitioner of Urban & Electric Mobility with focus on formulating EV policy. He has over 16 years of experience in Business Modelling, Institutional Restructuring, Regulatory Framework Analysis, Policy Development, Market Assessment, Investment Planning, Capacity Building and Project Structuring.
- Mr. Nabeel A. Khan - Editor of ET Auto, is one of the finest Indian journalists with a decade of unparalleled experience. He has extensively covered the global automotive industry and has frequently been quoted on the subject in international and local media and academia.

2. The Mayfair Mayhem

'The Mayfair Mayhem' was a three-round mega-simulation with each round testing new aspects of individual calibre including knowledge, negotiation mettle and trading acumen. Set against the backdrop of the infamous real estate market, the journey took the participant across all the intricacies of the market, where the winners bagged the grand cash prize of Rs. 20000.

The event consisted of 3 rounds:

1. Mattis Auctor - The preliminary round was a composite of the elements of quizzing, opportunity cost problems and investments set against the backdrop of the infamous real estate market. The round was intricately designed to filter the best and the brightest by testing their knowledge and investing acumen.
2. Arbitrage Royale - The intermittent round served as the prelude to the grand finale, by giving the participating teams a taste of how things work in the real estate market through a unique auction format based upon prevailing news updates and negotiations between players.
3. Finopoly - The grand finale of this magnificent journey witnessed the best teams battle it out in an all-out competitive strategy simulation, that derives its roots from one of the most popular board games to ever exist.
