Convenor of Society: Dr. Apoorva Gupta, NSS Programme Officer

NSS Unit of Hansraj College conducted an awareness visit to Charkha Museum and Saras Aajeevika Gallery for the volunteers and a pledge taking session for Padhaku students to increase awareness about preserving our rich cultural heritage, the handloom industry and empower our weavers and workers .

Activity ONE: Awareness visit to Charkha Museum and Saras Aajeevika Gallery, Connaught Place

Date of Activity: August 7th, 2024

Objective of the Event: Objective of this event was to raise awareness about the handloom industries on the occasion of National Handloom Day among volunteers.

Reporting Venue: Vishwavidyalaya Metro Station

Target Audience: College Students

Description of the Event Conducted:

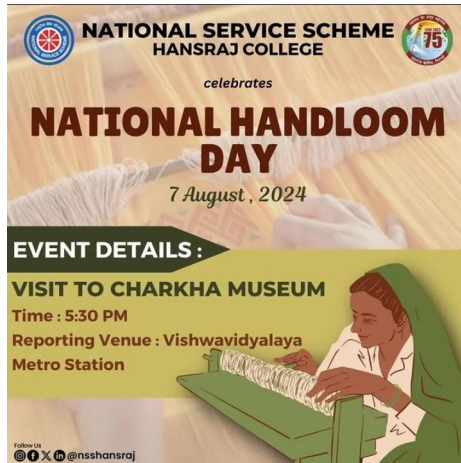

- On the occasion of Handloom Day, NSS Hansraj organized an engaging visit to the Charkha Museum and Saras Aajeevika Gallery to celebrate and promote the rich tradition of handcrafted textiles. The event aimed to immerse participants in the world of rural handloom textile production and highlight the significance of supporting indigenous craftsmanship.
- As attendees explored the Charkha Museum and Saras Aajeevika Gallery, student volunteers guided the participants through the exhibits, showcasing the intricate process of handloom weaving and the cultural heritage behind the textiles. All the attendees and everyone else were eager to learn more about the traditional techniques and the artisans who keep this art form alive.
- Participants exhibited a clear enthusiasm for these local products, and the purchases made during the visit contributed to the promotion and preservation of these traditional crafts.
- The celebration was marked by a sheer sense of fun, energy, and community spirit. It successfully highlighted the importance of local textiles and the craftsmanship involved in their production.
- By the end of the day, participants left with a renewed appreciation for handloom products and a deeper understanding of their cultural significance.
