Name of the Event – Menstrual Health Webinar (Project Saksham along with Go Girl Foundation)

Date of the Event – 24th February 2021

Do you know millions of girls typically miss 5 days of school each month due to inadequate menstrual protection and hygiene. They consider periods to be shameful and impure and don't want to discuss it in the public.

This continued silence on menstruation needs to be broken.

Project Saksham is the social wing of Neenv, which aims to uplift the society in general by undertaking various humanitarian practices. In the past, we have collaborated with various NGOs to eradicate people's suffering and fight for social justice. The team announced their collaboration with GoGirl Foundation to conduct a webinar on 'Menstrual health, hygiene and management' on 24th February 2021.

Students from all colleges were wholeheartedly invited all to join this interactive session on menstrual health management and share their concerns and exchange information about healthy practices and break myths around this natural phenomenon.

Webinar was live, saw 70 attendees and had an interactive Q&A round towards the end.
