On 28th January 2022, the Equal Opportunity Cell of Hansraj College conducted an informative session on the topic “Indian Constitution and Marginalized Society”. The esteemed speaker for the event was Mr. Shashank Tiwari, an associate professor at the University of Delhi.

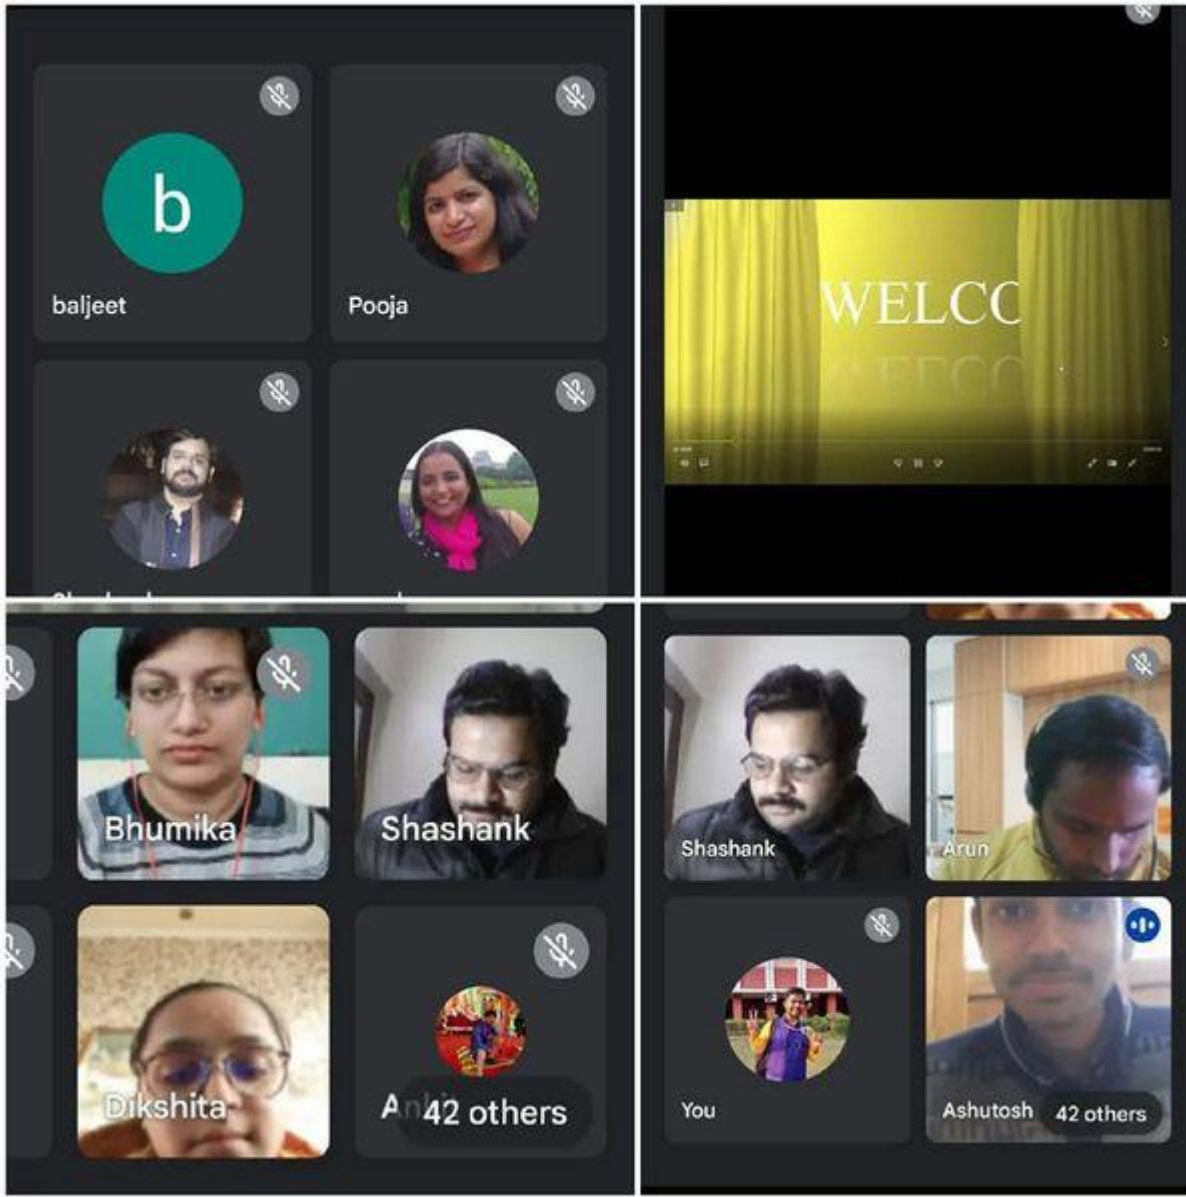

The webinar commenced at 4PM on the platform Google Meet with a brief introduction about the society. The anchors, Bhumika and Dikshita explained the working of EOC and what it strives to achieve. This was followed by a lamp lighting ceremony and a soulful performance of Saraswati Vandana by Ashutosh. The anchors then invited Vandana Ma'am for a formal introduction of our chief guest and to throw light on the subject of discussion. Mr. Shashank Tiwari promulgated his wealth of knowledge with us on the concept of marginalized communities in India. He talked about tribal and indigenous communities while emphasizing on various acts in the law catering to their needs. Mr. Tiwari shed light on various other marginalized groups namely, the SCs, STs, OBCs and the largest minority according to him, women. His thoughts on the subject were truly fascinating.

To culminate the discussion, Mr. Tiwari answered the questions of various participants about the provisions in the Indian Constitution for marginalized communities and what the government does to implement them. His enlightening words left us with extensive knowledge and we thank him for that. In the end, Satish Sir expressed his gratitude to the chief guest, the anchors, the council members, teachers and the audience. The program saw the participation of more than fifty people and was a great success.
