Event Description (About 250 Words)

The session, conducted by anthropologist Rami Niranjana Desai, offered an in-depth exploration of the complex socio-political landscape of Northeast India. The discussion focused on themes of ethnic identity, insurgency, and infrastructure development, examining how historical contexts and cultural diversity have shaped the region's contemporary challenges. Emphasizing a balanced and inclusive approach, the speaker highlighted the need for social and economic integration as essential pillars for sustainable growth. Particular attention was given to bridging developmental gaps while respecting local identities and community aspirations. The session also addressed the role of policy frameworks in fostering stability, connectivity, and equitable opportunities. It concluded with key takeaways on practical policy recommendations and long-term developmental strategies, encouraging students to critically engage with issues of governance, identity, and nation-building in the Northeast.
