Hosted by Ritwij Jha and Debanga Barkataki, the event created an engaging digital forum that brought together inquisitive minds from both colleges. It served as a platform for participants to explore general knowledge through a series of well-crafted questions.

The quiz encouraged the formation of mixed teams, blending Hansraj’s and Gargi’s students, fostering teamwork across campuses. Questions ranged from fundamental science and history to literature and current events, ensuring every participant could contribute their strengths. The clear and straightforward wording of each question allowed arts, commerce, and science students alike to join in enthusiastically.

Quizmasters from both societies welcomed contestants with genuine warmth and provided clear guidance throughout, establishing a friendly competitive spirit. As teams collaborated, they not only strengthened leadership and communication skills but also formed meaningful connections beyond their home institutions. The online format offered unparalleled convenience, enabling participants to join from their familiar study environments without logistical challenges.
