Event Description (About 250 Words) The Research and Development Department of the Finance and Investment Cell, Hansraj College, successfully organized an insightful session on Career Options in Finance with the objective of providing freshers with a comprehensive roadmap of the diverse professional landscape within the financial sector. The session was designed to bridge the gap between academic theory and professional practice by introducing students to the vast array of trajectories available in the global economy.

The session commenced with a broad overview of the financial services industry, categorizing roles into corporate finance, investment banking, and retail operations. This provided the necessary context for participants to understand how different financial institutions function and where specific job roles fit within the larger ecosystem. Once the groundwork was laid, the discussion transitioned into specialized fields such as equity research and asset management, explaining how professionals analyze market trends and manage wealth for institutional and individual clients. As the session progressed, the focus shifted toward the evolving nature of finance, specifically highlighting the rise of private equity, venture capital, and quantitative analysis. The speakers detailed the core competencies required for these high-impact
