The Internship Cell organised an offline seminar in collaboration with VALL with the objective of introducing students to the VALL application and its wide range of social internship opportunities. The seminar was designed to familiarise students with experiential learning platforms that enable them to apply academic knowledge in real-world social contexts.

The session focused on how social internships play a crucial role in bridging the gap between theoretical learning and practical exposure. Students were introduced to the features of the VALL app and guided on how it connects them with meaningful internship opportunities across various social impact domains. The speakers emphasized that such internships not only enhance professional skills but also promote social awareness, empathy, and responsible citizenship.

The seminar highlighted the importance of hands-on experience in developing essential skills such as communication, problem-solving, teamwork, and leadership. Students were encouraged to view social internships as valuable learning experiences that contribute to both personal growth and career development. The interactive nature of the session allowed participants to ask questions regarding application processes, learning outcomes, and long-term benefits of engaging in socially driven work.
