The proceedings commenced at 2:38 PM, with the prosecution and defense presenting their respective arguments before the judges.

The prosecution called upon a range of witnesses, including a forensic pathologist, a drug peddler, and the wife of the deceased, while the defense countered with its own barrage of testimonies, including the father of the brothers, wife of the accused brother and a fertility doctor. The courtroom was electric as both sides engaged in rigorous cross-examinations, presenting their evidence with remarkable proficiency.

managed to not get the murder charges to stick to their client, the prosecution effectively substantiated separate charges of child molestation against Vinay, the defendant. By skillfully integrating evidence from both sides, the prosecution constructed a damning timeline, ultimately ensuring that justice was served, granted, not in the way as was originally hoped. The event proved to be an enriching and educational experience, offering society members valuable insights into legal procedures and courtroom dynamics. The afternoon of March 5th was both intellectually stimulating and instrumental in fostering camaraderie among participants, marking a successful team-building initiative.
