Event Description (About 250 Words)

Hansraj College's Institution's Innovation Council (IIC), in collaboration with the Department of Physics & Electronics and the Student Learning Center, successfully conducted a mentoring session titled “Viable Product/Business in the Field of Optical Radiation Metrology” on August 30, 2025. The session was held online via Google Meet and commenced at 9:30 AM. The keynote speaker, Dr. Shibu Saha, Senior Scientist at the National Physical Laboratory (NPL), Delhi, delivered an insightful and engaging talk focused on the intersection of scientific innovation and entrepreneurship. Drawing from his extensive research and industrial experience, Dr. Saha elaborated on the potential of optical radiation metrology to generate viable products and business models. The event served as a meaningful exchange of ideas and memories, bridging generations of physicist. More than 116 registered participants were there and 51 attended. Overall, online event was a grand success.
