NAAC ACCREDITED 'A++' GRADE COLLEGE

Name of the Event: Conference on Advances in Plant Biology (APB 2024): Innovations and Strategies for Sustainable Agricultural Productivity for Viksit Bharat@2047.

Date of the Event: 10.02.2024

Department of Botany, Hansraj College in association with Viksit Bharat Ambassador Club, Hansraj College, hosted the aforementioned conference with the aim of intricately connecting the threads of agricultural advancement and inventive concepts. The event sought to underscore the significance of agriculture by offering valuable perspectives on crop growth, development, and environmental adaptation, alongside discussions on genetic enhancements for increased yields, aligning with the objectives of Viksit Bharat@2047. Furthermore, it provided a forum for meaningful dialogue, idea exchange, and networking, with a particular focus on inspiring young individuals to devise fresh solutions for contemporary challenges.

NAAC ACCREDITED 'A++' GRADE COLLEGE

Approximately 250 participants, including educators, students, and researchers from various educational institutions across India, attended the conference. The inaugural session, led by Dr. Pooja Jha Maity and Prof. Vijay Rani Rajpal, commenced with welcoming addresses and expressions of gratitude towards esteemed speakers. Musical performances by the college's music society added a harmonious touch. Invited speakers were honored with traditional shawls, college mementos, and plant saplings, emphasizing sustainability. The first technical session featured insightful lectures by Prof. Pushpendra Kumar Gupta, Prof. Deepak Pental, and Prof. Ashok Kumar Singh, focusing on modern agricultural advancements and challenges. A panel discussion ensued, exploring diverse perspectives on agricultural evolution and the role of technology. Prof. Vijay Rani Rajpal moderated engaging discussions, urging collaboration and innovation to address contemporary agricultural issues. Subsequent sessions featured talks by Prof. Suman Lakhanpaul, Prof. Pratap Kumar Pati, and Dr. C. Bharadwaj, discussing topics ranging from phytoplasma-induced plant diseases to biotechnological solutions for a healthier society and climate-resilient crop varieties. Poster and oral presentations provided a platform for students to showcase their research, with awards recognizing outstanding contributions. Dr. Savita concluded the event with valedictory remarks, followed by a vote of thanks from Dr. Sahil Mehta, highlighting the collective commitment to sustainable agricultural practices and academic excellence.
